Fantasy

A diagram illustrating the typographic structure of the word "Fantasy". The word is rendered in a dark gray serif font. Four horizontal red lines define the vertical space: the top line marks the "Cap height", the second line marks the "X-height", the third line is the "Baseline", and the bottom line marks the "Descender". The word "Fantasy" is positioned such that its capital 'F' and lowercase 'x' touch the X-height line, its 'a' and 'n' touch the Baseline, and its 'y' descends to the Descender line. A vertical red line on the left connects the four horizontal lines, with a dotted segment at the bottom indicating the descender area.
